Report of the Secretary-General on the work of the Organization

Letter dated 21 May 2003 from the Secretary-General addressed to the President of the General Assembly

I refer to my letter of 18 October 2002, in which I informed you of my decision to donate my share of the Nobel Peace Prize award for the purpose of establishing a United Nations Nobel Peace Prize Memorial Fund to support the education of the children of United Nations staff members who have given their lives in the service of peace. I sought your concurrence to my proposal that the Organization's share be used in the same way.

I refer also to your letter of 27 March 2003, in which you indicated that you had already, in your personal capacity, fully endorsed my proposal, and that you had conducted consultations on the matter with members of the General Committee of the General Assembly. You requested that I prepare a brief formal report for submission to the General Assembly for its consideration.

Please find the report requested in the annex to the present letter.

Annex

United Nations Nobel Peace Prize Memorial Fund

Report of the Secretary-General

1. The purpose of this report is to seek the concurrence of the General Assembly regarding the disposition of the United Nations portion of the Nobel Peace Prize, which was awarded in 2001, in two equal parts, to the United Nations as such and to its Secretary-General for our work for a more peaceful world. The Nobel Peace Prize comes with a financial award of approximately $1 million.

2. I firmly believe that the dedicated staff of the Organization have made the United Nations worthy of the Nobel Peace Prize, and that it would be appropriate to use the entire award for those who have made the greatest sacrifice by giving their lives for the cause of peace.

3. To that effect, I propose to establish a United Nations Nobel Peace Prize Memorial Fund for the receipt and administration of the proceeds of the Nobel Peace Prize. The purpose of the Fund would be to provide financial assistance for the education of children of United Nations civilian personnel who have been killed in the line of duty in the service of peace. The Fund, which would function as a special account under the Financial Regulations and Rules of the United Nations, could also receive and administer further contributions made for the same purpose.

4. I hope that the General Assembly will concur with my proposal that the United Nations Nobel Peace Prize Memorial Fund receive the full amount of the Nobel Peace Prize award.

Promotion and protection of the rights of children

Human rights questions: Human rights questions, including alternative approaches for improving the effective enjoyment of human rights and fundamental freedoms

Letter dated 20 May 2003 from the Permanent Representative of Austria to the United Nations addressed to the Secretary-General

I have the honour to inform you that the Fifth Ministerial Meeting of the Human Security Network was held in Graz, Austria, from 8 to 10 May 2003, under the chairmanship of the Federal Minister for Foreign Affairs of Austria, Benita Ferrero-Waldner.

The Human Security Network, an interregional group of countries comprising Austria, Canada, Chile, Greece, Ireland, Jordan, Mali, the Netherlands, Norway, Slovenia, Switzerland, Thailand and South Africa, as an observer, focused its discussions on the two priority issues designated by the Austrian Chairperson: human rights education and children affected by armed conflict. On these issues, the Network adopted the following four documents:

- The Graz Declaration on Principles of Human Rights Education and Human Security
- Understanding Human Rights — a Manual on Human Rights Education
- Bridging the Gap — a Support Strategy for Children Affected by Armed Conflict
- A Child Rights Training Curriculum — Child Protection, Monitoring and Rehabilitation.

Furthermore, a compendium of international standards relevant to the issue of children affected by armed conflict was produced in collaboration with your Special Representative for Children and Armed Conflict and presented at the Meeting.

I take pleasure in transmitting to you the above-mentioned documents that were elaborated by the Network with the support of more than 50 renowned international experts. I am confident that the manual, Understanding Human Rights, and the Child Rights Training Curriculum will especially be of practical value to the United Nations, particularly in its ongoing endeavours to integrate human rights into all relevant programmes and activities of the United Nations system. Further information on these documents can be found on the web site of the Austrian Ministry for Foreign Affairs as of June 2003 (www.bmaa.gv.at/index.html.en).

Besides the two priority themes, the Network discussed, inter alia, the issues of small arms and light weapons, landmines, preparations for the 2003 Conference of the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies, HIV/AIDS as well as poverty and people-centred development. The Meeting also discussed the humanitarian situation in Iraq, including an Austrian-Slovenian-Jordanian project to assist war traumatized children and child victims. At the end of the Meeting, the chairmanship of the Network for the period 2003-2004 was assumed by Mali.

I should be grateful if you would arrange for the present letter to be circulated as a document of the General Assembly, under agenda items 105 and 109 (b).
